- d) Commissioner Reports: Commissioner Shaffley gave a review of the Port's progress in 2024.

Commissioner Lahmann reported that he attended a Centralia City Council meeting and a Lewis County Board of County Commissioners meeting. He admitted to using his personal email for Port business and for advertising Port political campaigns on Port property, which he discussed with the Public Disclosure Commission. He added that earlier in the year he had called out type 3 barricades that were used in the Centralia Station project and that his qualifications as a State-issued traffic controller supervisor regarding the subject had been called out and Commissioner Shaffley had a good response at the time, but he still has concerns. Commissioner Markstrom replied that as elected officials, it is not the Commissioners' role to weigh-in on day-to-day operations despite expertise. Commissioner Lahmann said that it is the Commissioners' role to make sure things are done properly and that it was a liability. Commissioner Markstrom replied that Port counsel had reviewed it and that Commissioner Lahmann was making it a liability by saying it was a liability. Kyle Heaton said that he had taken Commissioner Lahmann's concerns into consideration and sent it to the Port's licensed engineer who reviewed it and said that it was not an issue. He reviewed it with Port counsel, who did not believe it was an issue, and neither the City Engineer nor the Washington State Department of Transportation Engineer's had an issue with it. Commissioner Shaffley added that the report she gave regarding Commissioner Lahmann's concerns at the time was written by the Port's engineer, as she is not qualified to weigh in on the subject.

Commissioner Markstrom stated that the next regularly scheduled Port meeting will fall on January 1, 2025, and he proposed cancelling the meeting and resuming at the following regularly scheduled meeting on January 15, 2025.
